Graduate Program in Psychology ACADEMIC INTEREST FORM Application Fall 2019

Name: _____

Applicant #: _____

The program is informally divided into four main areas of research, although many faculty members have research interests that span two or more areas. To assist in processing your application, please select your primary area of interest from the list below by numbering the corresponding box. If you have more than one area of interest, please rank order your selections (i.e., 1 to 4). Please note that this information does not restrict you from consideration in areas not indicated.

Biology & Behaviour (non-human animal)
Perception/Cognition/Cognitive Neuroscience (human)
Developmental (infants and children)
Social/Personality/Abnormal

If there are specific faculty members that you are interested in working with, please provide their names in the spaces provided. Providing this information is optional. Any names you include will serve only to flag your interest in the named faculty members. You should expect, however, that your application may be reviewed by other faculty in the program, and that you may be contacted by other faculty.

Please indicate if you have applied for any scholarships to hold during the 2020-21 academic year, including Master's or Doctoral level tri-agency awards (CIHR, NSERC, SSHRC) and other external awards.

_____

Select admissions awards and/or scholarships are available for under-represented groups. If you would like to disclose anything that may make you eligible for one of these awards, please do so in the space below. This information will be available only to members of the Psychology graduate administration.

In a separate document, please provide a statement that describes (a) your research interests, including three key words or phrases, bolded (b) why you are interested in graduate school, and (c) why you are applying specifically to this program. Please feel free to highlight any information you think is relevant to your application (research and teaching experience, specialized training, long-term goals, etc.). Typical statements are between one and two pages of single-spaced text.
